Pope in Barcelona: May Christians be builders of unity in a divided world

Upon his arrival in Barcelona, Pope Leo XIV presides over midday prayer at the city's Cathedral, and encourages the Catholic community to be "witnesses and prophets of unity".
See full article at: https://www.vaticannews.va/en/pope/news/2026-05/archbishop-new-york-magnifica-humanitas-encyclical-interview.html

León XIV a los sacerdotes: Jesús nos quiere santos de todos y para todos

En la solemnidad del Sagrado Corazón de Jesús, el Papa firma el mensaje para el Día de la Santificación de los Sacerdotes: no es un ideal abstracto ni una opción entre muchas, estamos llamados a ser contemplativos en la acción y misericordiosos.

No se alcanza «mediante esfuerzos aislados», que en última instancia son inútiles, ni mediante el mero «esfuerzo de ascetismo y perfección», que, sin embargo, es «necesario». Un sacerdote alcanza la santidad confiando y encomendándose a Cristo, uniéndose, en efecto, a su corazón, «el lugar donde la santidad se revela como cercanía y ternura», y del cual fluye el Espíritu que transforma los «vasos de barro» de la propia pequeñez. El Papa León explora el significado y, sobre todo, la cumbre de la vocación en su mensaje para la Solemnidad del Sagrado Corazón de Jesús, día en que la Iglesia celebra tradicionalmente la Santificación de los Sacerdotes.

No para unos pocos elegidos

La santidad, declara León XIV al comienzo, «no es una opción entre muchas, ni un ideal abstracto: pone en tela de juicio la identidad misma de toda persona que desea participar en la vida del Resucitado». Es «un abandono confiado» a Él a pesar de la «gran paradoja» de una vocación «tan elevada», aun cuando quienes la reciben, reconoce el Papa, son «limitados e imperfectos, a menudo marcados por la debilidad y el cansancio, a veces por las heridas». Pero si el corazón humano es «vulnerable», la unión «de nuestro corazón con el Corazón de Cristo» no es, escribe León XIV, «una experiencia reservada a unos pocos elegidos». Más bien, es «un camino sacramental y eucarístico que se desarrolla en la vida cotidiana».

Contemplativos en acción

Si buscamos la unión con Jesús, continúa, «la santidad, buscada en vano mediante esfuerzos aislados, se revelará tal como es: correspondencia con la gracia que nos precede, nos sostiene y nos transforma». Y entonces todo, nos asegura, es decir, «la oración, el ministerio, las relaciones, el cansancio, las alegrías y los fracasos, incluso el tiempo aparentemente perdido o el amor que parece desperdiciado, todo se convierte en un lugar privilegiado para la revelación de Dios y su amor infinito».

El perfil al que aspirar, indica el Papa, es el de un «sacerdote con un corazón íntegro, sencillo y puro» que así se convierte en un «contemplativo en medio de la acción, misericordioso, fiel en la prueba, gozoso en la entrega». Un pastor, subraya, del que «el mundo tiene una gran necesidad», uno que ofrece no «meras palabras o planes, sino el testimonio vivo de un corazón reconciliado». Pope to priests: Be witnesses of the Good Shepherd and give yourselves entirely to Him

Marking the Day of Prayer for the Sanctification of Priests, which is celebrated the Solemnity, Pope Leo sends a message to priests inviting them to witness "the tenderness of the Good Shepherd" and live a priestly life that "is steady and configured to Jesus’ Heart."

Migrants in Tenerife tell Pope Leo XIV: We do not ask for privileges or compassion

TENERIFE, Canary Islands — “No one leaves their land, their family, and their roots by choice when they can live in peace,” said Bousso Diouf, a woman from Senegal who spoke with the moral authority of someone who risked her life crossing the Atlantic in a wooden boat, knowing the journey could last a week or end adrift at sea.

Diouf was among the migrants who greeted Pope Leo XIV at the Las Raíces reception center in Tenerife, where some 700 sub-Saharan African migrants — all adult men — are currently housed. The center is located in the humid Las Raíces area of Tenerife, a eucalyptus-filled area about 3,300 feet above sea level.

The number is relatively low compared with the hardest years of the “cayuco” crisis, especially at the end of 2024, when the center received between 2,000 and 3,000 migrants amid overcrowding and widely reported tensions. Most of those currently housed at the center come from Senegal, Gambia, and Mali, and on average spend about three months there before being transferred to mainland Spain.

From The Pastor

“We are his people: the sheep of his flock.” Psalm 100:1-2, 3, 5

Dear Brothers and Sisters: Today’s Psalm offers us a sense of belonging. We are God’s people and we have a shepherd who is on our journey with us.

As we celebrate the 250th anniversary of the independence of the United States of America, we unite our hearts to the consecration made by the USA Conference of Catholic Bishops to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. Archbishop William E. Lori called us to action as he stated in his homily that this is a remarkable moment of grace which we are privileged to share: “We gather, not first to celebrate ourselves, but to consecrate. To entrust. To place the Church in the United States, and indeed the whole nation, into the Sacred Heart of Jesus Christ. Why do we do this? Because consecration is an act of faith. It is an acknowledgment that history is not simply the story of what human beings have accomplished; it is the story of God’s faithful love at work in the world. We give thanks for the blessings of these past 250 years, but we do so with humility, recognizing in faith that every nation stands in need of God’s mercy, wisdom, and guidance. We consecrate our nation, not because it is perfect, but because it is beloved by God. We entrust to the Heart of Christ our achievements and failures, our hopes and anxieties, our present challenges and our future aspirations. We ask him to heal what is wounded, strengthen what is good, and guide us towards a future marked by justice, peace, freedom, and respect for the dignity of every human person.”

Consecration is also an act of hope. It is a declaration that the future does not belong merely to political movements, economic forces, or human plans. The future belongs to God. And so, we place into His Heart, not only ourselves but generations yet unborn, and all those who will inherit the Church and the nation we leave behind. It is a call to renewal, love and unity. I think about the many parishes and dioceses that throughout the nation were able to gather with the same intention. We also participated in this invitation by following it via livestream and in the evening by offering a Holy Hour of Reparation which most of all—as Archbishop Lori said—was a call to reconciliation.

Archbishop Lori also emphasized that we cannot approach the Heart of Christ while pretending we have no need of his mercy. He explained that true communion with the Sacred Heart requires humility to acknowledge our shortcomings and the active pursuit of reconciliation.

Key aspects of his message include:

- The Need for Mercy: We must admit our dependence on God's mercy before we can draw close to Him.
- Beyond Division: He noted that the Sacred Heart does not divide or harden us; rather, it reconciles and transforms us.
- A Savior Seeking Communion: Christ is not just asking for obedience, but for genuine friendship and communion.

It was a beautiful homily and perfectly connects with this Sunday’s Gospel where the Lord calls his disciples and commissions them to go to the lost sheep of the house of Israel, to proclaim the Gospel of love, mercy, and reconciliation of a humanity broken and wounded by sin; division, hate and omission.

As you walk your journey, make this proclamation: “‘The kingdom of heaven is at hand.’ Cure the sick, raise the dead, cleanse lepers, and drive out demons. Without cost you have received; without cost you are to give” Matthew 10:7-8. Today we can respond to this call, keeping in mind the Lord’s generous Heart that cares for each and every sheep in his flock. There is so much work to do, my dear people. Become a part of the endeavor of working for the Lord’s vineyard and listen to the words of Jesus: “The harvest is abundant, but the laborers are few; so, ask the master of the harvest to send out laborers for his harvest” Matthew 9:37. It is also a call to prayer, to pray for more vocations to the priesthood and religious life, but also to pray for a more committed laity—ready to serve and to work for the building up of the kingdom of love, justice and peace!

“He summoned his twelve disciples and gave them authority over unclean spirits to drive them out and to cure every disease and every illness” Matthew 10:1. Let us be careful with this ministry! It is a serious ministry and not everyone has the authority to do this. However, how can we overcome evil in our times? It is by closing our hearts to anything that does not comes from God. By spreading the love of Christ and as Pope Leo tells us: “Nurture love that hatred may give way to peace.” He also said: “Let us ask Mary, Queen of peace, to teach us to renounce hurtful words, hasty judgement, gossip and slander.”

"This land does not belong to Satan. It belongs to Christ." This quote comes from the homily delivered by Archbishop Alexander Sample in Portland, Oregon. He proclaimed this message during a Eucharistic procession, reminding Catholics that their ultimate citizenship is in the Kingdom of Heaven rather than any earthly domain. It seems that it is just for you but also there is a message from our Pope to us as we pray for the shepherds of our souls:

- PopeLeo XIV to priests—Be witnesses of the Good Shepherd and give yourselves entirely to Him: “Marking the Day of Prayer for the Sanctification of Priests, which is celebrated on the Solemnity, Pope Leo sends a message to priests inviting them to witness ‘the tenderness of the Good Shepherd’ and live a priestly life that ‘is steady and configured to Jesus’ Heart.”

Finally, let me share this last thought with You: I am always amazed how blessed America is and how beautiful is to be one nation under God. I pray that the lord will increasingly bless our nation and grant us the grace to share the blessings we have received from his bounty!

Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us!
Sincerely, in Christ,
Father Alejandro Reyes Cardenas, Rector

St. Juliana Falconieri

Juliana Falconieri lived in Florence during the Middle Ages. At that time, the city was plagued with internecine strife between Guelphs, who supported the Popes, and the Ghibellines, who supported the emperors. Juliana came from a noble Florentine family that was deeply involved in the affairs of the city.

The girl in the cloak

But the Falconieri's wealth did not consist solely in gold and silver. The family was also rich in Christian faith, which had already led Alessio Falconieri, Juliana's uncle, to give up everything and consecrate himself to God. Juliana was fascinated by her uncle's vocation as one of the founders of the Servants of Mary (the Servites). Although she was a beautiful young woman, she rejected all offers of marriage; she preferred the habit of the Servites to the fashionable clothing of her peers. She dedicated herself to serving the poor, and in time, other young woman began to follow her lead. Read the full article online at:

s. Juliana Falconieri

Juliana tenía un talento indiscutible. Era hermosa. Una de esas mujeres que pueden hacer que los hombres pierdan la cabeza, sin importar la época. Esa en la que Juliana vive es la Edad Media y su ciudad es la Florencia de Dante Alighieri, que es contemporánea. Una ciudad en la que, mientras se desarrolla la amarga lucha entre los Güelfos y los Gibelinos - choque vértice entre la tiara y la corona - una fuerza que burbujea desde abajo se está extendiendo cada vez más, y tiene ganas de traficar con su genio emprendedor. Juliana es parte de esto porque el apellido es Falconieri y los Falconieri en Florencia a finales del siglo XIII eran una familia rica de mercaderes.

La niña con el manto

Pero no sólo el dinero vive en el Palacio Falconieri. Les envuelve una riqueza inmaterial y poderosa, la fe cristiana, que ya ha llevado a una descendencia de la familia a despojar todo y consagrarse a Dios. Alessio Falconieri, uno de los siete fundadores de los Siervos de María, es el hermano del padre de Juliana y ella se queda fascinada por la elección de vida del tío, tan alejada de los esquemas de una familia comprometida en hacer dinero. La niña crece despreocupada de su belleza, por la que conquista propuestas de matrimonio que rechaza con gracia oportuna. Juliana se siente atraída por la vida religiosa y frente a la apariencia de moda de las mujeres florentinas, prefiere el abrigo oscuro ancho del tipo que usa su tío. La misma vestimenta que pronto comienzan a llevar otras chicas de la rica burguesía que siguen a Juliana, más inclinadas, como ella, a servir a los pobres que a ser reverenciadas por ellos.
